Caol Ila 11 Years Ambrosial Feast - Diageo Special Releases (2024)

There are moments in the life of a whisky lover that give you pause. Moments when the glass in your hand doesn't just contain a drink, but tells a story that is so different from anything you expected. The Caol Ila 11 Years Ambrosial Feast from the Diageo Special Releases 2024 is just such a moment.

TASTING NOTES

NOSE

The first sip in the glass is like a walk through an exotic orchard, while a bakery opens its doors in the background. Bright fruity lychee dances with mango, while malty sweetness wraps itself around the senses like a warm cloak. It's as if Islay suddenly wants to play Caribbean. But then - and this is where it gets really interesting - something completely unexpected sneaks up on you: vanilla is paired with sugar beet and yeast, which develops an almost umami-like flavour. White peaches whisper sweet secrets, while hazelnut provides an earthy base that reminds you where you are - on a Scottish island that is normally known for completely different flavours.

PALATE

The nutty and spicy notes embrace the tongue like old friends, while white pepper provides a surprising spiciness that harmonises perfectly with the 57.30%. Vanilla ice cream - yes, actual vanilla ice cream - melts on the tongue and mingles with yeasty notes so intense that you wonder whether you're tasting a whisky or a craft beer. The hop-like character is so unusual for an Islay whisky that it is almost cheeky. It's as if Caol Ila is saying: "You think you know me? Then look what else I've got!" A mineral note rounds off the flavour and reminds us that this whisky has not forgotten its Islay roots despite all the rebellion.

FINISH

Fruity notes interweave with light oak, while the medium length is perfectly measured - not too short to disappoint, not too long to tire. A hint of liquorice and slight dryness with spicy accents ensure a finish that lingers for a long time.

MARCEL

Who would have thought an Islay whisky could be so cheeky and playful? The Caol Ila 11 Years Ambrosial Feast is a true mood-lifter with its exotic, fruity charm and surprising umami notes - an experience you simply have to enjoy.

SASCHA

This 11-years Caol Ila impresses with its unusual aromatic profile and the harmonious balance between a powerful 57.3% ABV and delicate yeast notes. Despite deviating from typical Islay profiles, it displays a confident structure that marks it as an exciting representative of the Special Releases 2024.
