TASTING NOTES

NOSE

The first sniff takes you on a journey: mildly smoky notes of BBQ and ham blend with red fruits, including blackcurrants, adding a fresh and fruity touch. Hints of vanilla and caramel provide a pleasant sweetness, harmoniously rounding off the bouquet.

PALATE

On the palate, the 14-years Port Charlotte reveals its full-bodied complexity. The subtle smoke remains present, accompanied by light earthy tones and a hint of maritime breeze, reminiscent of salty waves. The BBQ sauce and ham notes from the nose return, adding memorable depth to the flavor.

FINISH

The finish is long and layered. Spicy oak notes dominate at first, gradually giving way to a light fruity sweetness, providing a well-rounded conclusion.

THOUGHTS

MARCEL

This Port Charlotte is like a cheerful evening around the campfire: spicy, smoky, and with a pleasant sweetness that never becomes overpowering. For anyone who enjoys character and a touch of saltiness, this is a genuine taste experience. Simply a whisky that lifts your spirits and leaves you wanting more!

SASCHA

The precise balance between smoke, salty sea notes, and fruity sweetness makes this Port Charlotte an analytically convincing bottling. The complex structure and long-lasting, spicy finish demonstrate a successful maturation at 56.2% ABV. A technically very well-balanced Islay whisky that underscores the quality standards of independent bottlings.
